Motivation

A shape in a collage has no word to define it. So, it allows us to explore a feeling, a sensation beyond the limitation of language, and therefore invites us to use our intuition. The Artist and the Businessman are two sides of the same coin - while the businessman relies on data and analysis, using AI, the artist relies on intuition and creativity.

By combining these two approaches, we can create a powerful collage of ideas that leverages both the analytical and intuitive parts of our minds. After creating over 800 collages, I have developed a faster, simpler, and more efficient method for using collages to solve business problems intuitively.

Feasibility of program: market analysis

Our intuition can complement AI solution and preserve our humanness.

In a world where AI lacks personal experience, humans possess a unique internal reality. For example, the word "CAT" evokes emotions, memories, and genuine understanding within us. While AI relies on statistical patterns, our intuition complements its logical analysis. By diving into our deepest wisdom, we embrace harmony between heart and mind. This fusion unleashes boundless potential, allowing us to harness AI's prowess while preserving our humanness. In the dance of intuition and logic, we forge an alliance that transcends limitations.

Overview

Intuition, a human ability beyond language.

In an interview, David Whyte mentioned that the language we use may prove insufficient for the territories we explore. A shape in a collage, for instance, lacks words to define it. This absence of definition allows us to delve into feelings and sensations beyond the limitations of language, inviting us to tap into our intuition—a unique human ability that should be developed to transcend AI solutions.
